Ben (Assistant Accountant): Hi, I’m Ben, I’m an Assistant Accountant here at VIVID, I’ve been here for around 3 years, I started in September 2016,	Ben sits in one of the offices at VIVID, talking to the interviewer who is out of view. [Text appears on-screen:] “Ben Hooley Assistant Accountant”
Ben: I started not long after leaving university, I studied accounting with finance which is why I’m an accountant now. The first few months with VIVID were great. I managed to meet a lot of people	A montage of Ben working in the VIVID offices. This includes working at the computer and having conversations with others.
Ben: that were important to my role, so budget holders, people I’d be working closely with,	Ben sits in one of the offices at VIVID, talking to the interviewer who is out of view.
Ben: good to make those relationships which is handy now in my current role. Managed to stay on and specialise in an area rather than moving around which we did a lot in the first year to get a feel for the business. Ben: Now I’m studying to become CIMA qualified as well, which is great. It means I can continue my career with VIVID.	Ben sits in one of the offices at VIVID, talking to the interviewer who is out of view.
Lauren (Information Governance Officer): After leaving school, I went to college and worked in a shop. I didn’t really know what I wanted to do. I was encouraged by someone who worked here previously to apply for an apprenticeship, which I did. I had an interview and I was offered the position of Insurance Apprentice. I was really happy and it’s genuinely the best thing I’ve ever done.	Lauren sits in one of the offices at VIVID, talking to the interviewer who is out of view.
